

Jan 6/6

Hi,

Sun. mite

As you can see by the drawing we tailed a pretty good job there but its coming out fairly good. It sure took a lot of figuring otherwise it could have gotten done this far in about half the time. Now the next big project will be to remodel the kitchen. Sure is a big job on that what with tearing out some cupboard space & building about 12 ft or more of new. I'm working 3:30 P.M. to midnite at the P.O. now but every second week I get Thurs Fri Sat Sun off. Made it pretty nice this weekend; saw every minute of the hockey tournament but managed to work on my project between periods and between games. Don't even know when the basketball tournament is on. If its 4 weeks from this past weekend I'll see all of it. We bought Joey a bow & arrow set for his birthday. Its a pretty nice bow - about forty pound pull and its a plastic bow.

Course he lost one arrow in the snow already. Sure has been cold a couple weekends. Dec. wasn't bad for weather at all. Sure hope it doesnt get too cold yet in March. We're figuring on going to a wedding in Wanda on the 23rd of April, I guess.
We'd leave all the kids home then tho. I'm going fishing in Canada in June, 4 or 5 week or so. We've been burning wood steady in the barrel stove and when its 15 above or so outside our furnace seldom sicks in. This summer I'll have more birch handy to cut up. Plenty busy times coming up, looks like.

Bye for this time.

Oliver, Joan & The Kids.
